DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1-7, an apparatus for providing a plurality of perforations in a dough layer prior to baking, in the reply filed on January 10, 2006 is acknowledged.

Claim Objections

- 1. Claims 1, 2, 4, and 6 are objected to because of the following informalities.

 Appropriate correction is required.
- 2. Regarding claim 1, there should only be one period located at the very end of the claim. All periods within the claim should be replaced with semicolons or commas.
- 3. Regarding claim 2, it does not further limit the structure of the invention. In addition, the word "wherein" is misspelled.
- 4. Regarding claim 4, it does not further limit the structure of the invention.
- 5. Regarding claim 6, the word "claim" is misspelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 7. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Turner (US 2,246,424).

8. Regarding claim 1, Turner teaches an apparatus comprising (1) a top portion having certain weight; (2) a top portion including an upper surface of the apparatus; (3) a top portion having a bottom surface; (4) a plurality of nail like objects supported by the bottom surface of the top portion; (5) a plurality of nail like objects arranged in a fixed pattern; and (6) handles being arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 2, #1 (top portion with bottom surface), #9 (handles), #14 (nail like objects); col. 2, line 29 – col. 4, line 22.

- 9. Regarding claim 2, Turner teaches a top portion with weight to provide pressure on the nail like objects. See Fig. 2.
- 10. Regarding claim 3, Turner teaches a top portion with a bottom surfaces with a plurality of nail like objects arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 2-5; col. 3, lines 21-38.
- 11. Regarding claim 4, Turner teaches an apparatus manually lowered directly onto the dough layer. See col. 3, lines 17-20; col. 3, line 67 col. 4, line 22.
- 12. Regarding claim 5, Turner teaches nail like objects having narrow, pointed ends. See Fig. 2, #14; col. 3, lines 21-38.
- 13. Regarding claim 6, Turner teaches a plurality of nail like objects with pointed ends that are pointed downwards in the direction of gravity. See Fig. 2, #14.
- 14. Regarding claim 7, Turner teaches a pair handles that are attached to the circular rim of the top portion in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 2, #9; col. 3, lines 17-20; col. 3, line 67 col. 4, line 22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

15. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1722

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

- 16. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ito (US 5,405,627) in view of Leiby (US 3,234,895).
- 17. Regarding claim 1, Ito teaches an apparatus comprising (1) a top portion having certain weight; (2) a top portion including an upper surface of the apparatus; (3) a top portion having a bottom surface; (4) a plurality of nail like objects supported by the bottom surface of the top portion; and (5) a plurality of nail like objects arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 5-10; col. 4, line 3 col. 5, line 7. Ito does not teach handles. However, Leiby teaches handles being arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 5, #74; col. 3, lines 44-50. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide handles, as suggested by Leiby, so that one can easily press the apparatus downward onto the dough.
- Regarding claim 1, Ito teaches an apparatus comprising (1) a top portion having certain weight; (2) a top portion including an upper surface of the apparatus; (3) a top portion having a bottom surface; (4) a plurality of nail like objects supported by the bottom surface of the top portion; and (5) a plurality of nail like objects arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 5-10; col. 4, line 3 col. 5, line 7. Ito does not teach handles. However, Leiby teaches handles being arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 3, #24; col. 2, lines 19-34. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide handles, as suggested by Leiby, so that one can easily press the apparatus downward onto the dough.

19. Regarding claim 2, Ito teaches a top portion with weight to provide pressure on the nail like objects. See Fig. 5.

- 20. Regarding claim 3, Ito teaches a top portion with a bottom surfaces with a plurality of nail like objects arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 5; col. 4, lines 3-18.
- 21. Regarding claim 4, Ito teaches an apparatus manually lowered directly onto the dough layer. See col. 4, line 65 col. 5, line 7.
- 22. Regarding claim 5, Ito teaches nail like objects having narrow, pointed ends. See Fig. 5; col. 4, lines 3-18.
- 23. Regarding claim 6, Ito teaches a plurality of nail like objects with pointed ends that are pointed downwards in the direction of gravity. See Fig. 5; col. 4, lines 3-18.
- 24. Regarding claim 7, Ito does not teach handles. However, Leiby teaches handles being arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 5, #74; col. 3, lines 44-50. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide handles, as suggested by Leiby, so that one can easily press the apparatus downward onto the dough.
- 25. Regarding claim 7, Ito does not teach handles. However, Leiby teaches handles being arranged in a fixed pattern. See Fig. 3, #24; col. 2, lines 19-34. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide handles, as suggested by Leiby, so that one can easily press the apparatus downward onto the dough.
